

THE LARGEST CIRCULATION
OF ANY PAPER
IN A CITY OF 8,000
AND A
COUNTY OF 10,000 POPULATION

Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

A Live, New, and Progressive
SEMI-WEEKLY AT ONLY 25 CENTS PER YEAR.
Complete Job Office
IN CONNECTION.

VOL. XII.—NO. 12.

HOPKINSVILLE, KENTUCKY, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1890.

$2.00 A YEAR.

GREAT BOSTON FIRE SALE.

The sale of nearly half a million dollars worth of Dry Goods from the great Boston fire took place at Topping's Auction Rooms, New York, Jan. 9th. Our buyer, as usual, was on hand and the portion secured by us has been arriving for some time, taxing the capacity of our store and we are prepared to give our customers bargains such as can be found once in years.

Sale Begins Saturday, February 15th and Continues SEVEN DAYS or until all are gone.

Figured Chambray Glorgham 80 cents a yard, worth 15 cents.

Fine French Glorgham 12¢ a yard, worth 25 cents.

Black Silk Warp Henrietta 75c, 90c, $1.00, value $1.10, $1.25 and $1.40.

Fine quality Satin slightly damaged by water, 45¢ a yard, worth 75¢.

Blue English Garnet Earrings, worth 50¢, for 5 cents a pair.

23¢ A yard for Fancy Brocade Ribbons with wide Velvet Stripes, all shades, worth 50 cents.

Chenille Applique Flowers, 25 cents each, worth $1.00.

The best Rasin Crash, 10 cents a yard, worth 15 cents.

Brass Tidy Pins 5 cents a dozen, worth 25 cents.

Fancy Silk Cords, 8 cents a yard, cheap at 15 cents.

Silver Thimbles, 3 cents each.

Fancy Elderdown, 50 cents a yard, 45¢ a yard, cheap at 10 cents.

12-inch Pepperell Pillow Cotton, 12 cents a yard.

42¢ All wool Black Henrietta. There is no such value as this in the country. Henriettes of this price are generally of American manufacture, while the one we advertise is French made.

Ladies' Fancy Striped Imported lace hose at 33 cents a pair, worth 75¢.

Figured Chambray Glorgham 80 cents a yard, worth 15 cents.

Silk Banner Rods at 5 and 10 cents a yard, worth 15 and 25 cents.

Rope Silk for embroidery on felt, plush or bolting cloth, only 8 cents a skein, worth 5 cents.

Romants of Fine French Indie Linon, only 10 cents a yard, worth double.

Ladies' Pin striped Imported lace, 40 gauge, worth 35 cents a pair. This sale 23 cents.

10¢ A pair for Misses' Genuine List Thread Hose, actual price 40 cents.

Pure Linen Crash 5 cents a yard, worth 7 cents.

Children's Knickerbocker Merino 19¢ cents a pair, worth 25 cents.

Fine Reversible Gossamer, silk both sides, worth $2.50, This sale $1.35.

Children's Shawl Black Hose, warranteed fast, only 25¢ a pair. Regular price 45 cents.

Good quality Victoria Lawn, 4¢ a yard, worth 8 cents.

Celebrated Norwell Seamless Socks only 10 cents a pair.

Ladies' full fashioned trimmed lace Hose, cheap at 10 cents. This sale 5 cents.

Ladies' fine wool Jersey Jackets, worth $1.25. This sale 50 cents.

Figured Chambray Glorgham 80 cents a yard, worth 15 cents.

15th and Continues SEVEN DAYS or until all are gone.

Very fine quality checked nainsook worth 20¢ a yard. This sale 10¢.

Smyrna Rugs at $1.63, 72, 2.37 2.98 and 4.22.

White lace stripe organdie 54 inches wide, (note width), 10 cents a yard.

Exquisite quality French Indie Linon slightly damaged on out side of piece, worth 80¢. This sale 15 cents.

BIG JOB IN WHITE SHIRTS.

35¢ each for children's natural wool underwear regular price 60 cents.

Fine Embroidered Directions Collar worth 60 cents. This sale 25¢.

Lovely Neck Ruches worth 35¢.

This sale 10 cents.

Belmoral Skirts worth 75¢. This sale 50 cents.

30¢ a yard for Black Lace Stripe Organdie, 54 inches wide (note width.) This isn't a misprint.

13¢ A yard " " " 23

16¢ A yard " " " 27

18¢ A yard " " " 30

22¢ A yard " " " 38

45¢ A yard for 23-inch Flouncing, fine work, worth 75 cents.

54¢ A yard for 45-inch Flouncing, worth 90 cents.

67¢ A yard for 23-inch Flouncing, very fine work, worth $1.13.

76¢ A yard for 45-inch Flouncing, worth $1.35.

90¢ A yard for 45-inch Flouncing, worth $1.50.

50¢ for men's Percal shirts with two collars and one pair cuffs worth $1.25.

Great Opportunity in

EMBROIDERIES!

Lovely Swiss and Nauvoo Edgings, exquisite patterns, at the following wonderful concessions:

4¢ A yard for Edgings worth 60 cents.

6¢ A yard " " " 11

7¢ A yard " " " 12

9¢ A yard " " " 15

10¢ A yard " " " 17

11¢ A yard " " " 18

13¢ A yard for 45-inch Flouncing, worth $1.88.

$1.35 A yard for 45-inch Flouncing, worth $2.25.

LACE CURTAINS.

$1.19 For 34 yards Nottingham Taped Curtains worth $1.75.

$1.37 For 34 yards Nottingham Taped Curtains worth $2.00.

$1.52 For 34 yards Nottingham Curtains, very handsome, worth $2.50.

$1.74 For 34 yards Nottingham Curtains, very handsome, worth $3.00.

Free A Curtain Pole with trimmings complete given with every pair of curtains over $1.00 per pair. This sale only.

1890 STARTLING BARGAINS! 1890

NOT ONE RESERVED.

The choicest light weight Spring Overcoats go just the same as our heavy winter storm overcoats. This mild winter has left us with the choicest stock you have ever seen at this season of the year and we are anxious to cut loose from them even at a big loss.

This will make out:

Child's satinette overcoats, worth $1.00 go for

Child's half wool overcoats, worth $2.00 go for Child's fine cape all wool overcoats, worth $5.00 go for

Youth's good heavy overcoats, worth $3.00 go for

Youth's good heavy overcoats, worth $4.00 go for

Big cuts on Winter Suits, Underwear, Gloves and all winter goods, See our show window for bargains in Hats. Choice of any stiff hat for $1.89, former prices, $2.50, $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00. Choice of any soft fur hat 99¢, former price $1.50, $2.00, $3.00 and $4.00.

Odds and Ends in boots and shoes in "Bargain Pen" at 1-4 regular prices. Regular stock is kept complete and full of the best and most favorably known makes of Boots and Shoes in the U. S. and sold at lower prices than ever before. Shoe Shop up stairs. Re-pairing done on shortest notice.

JAS. H. ANDERSON & CO.,

BUSH'S OLD STAND.

GLASS CORNER.

WOMEN IN EUROPE.

Observations Made by an American Woman.

When we landed at Liverpool and went in the Adelphi Hotel our un-sophisticated eyes were opened to an unusual extent to find all our wants attended to by women instead of men, as we had been accustomed to have in our own land. The white-capped maid—this term is applied to all ages—answered bells, brought up water, hot or cold, lunch, or whatever was required. We actually expected to have her bring up our luggage, but a male porter fortunately did this.

Our stay in Liverpool being very short, we had not much time for observation, but as we had been every thing seemed to us very strange. Ice-water, that American luxury, is a thing rarely used by the English people, and such a thing as a man buying a bar is unheard of. Maids—selected, I was informed, for their beauty as much as any other consideration—attend the bar of every hotel, and, although we American women look upon this with peculiar feelings, in old England it is a custom, and the position is regarded as respectable as any other a woman may occupy in service. At the hotels there are no housekeepers in the sense we use the word. The first chambermaid takes most of the responsibility of such a position, while the actual labor is shared by the under-chambermaids. The scrubbing, cleaning and dusting is done by housemaids.

Court Garden Market in London presents a panorama well worth seeing. Vegetables, fruit and flowers, in abundance are disposed of with a great deal of noise and clatter, the vendors being mostly women, who drive a bargain with a shrewdness unequalled elsewhere in the busy marts of London. Especially was this fact shown in their answers to some of the prying Yankees, whose inquisitiveness broke forth in "How much is this?" "Where is that?" "Is that real?" "Do you sell by the pound or quart?" "What do you call this?"

A novel sight was about twenty-five women sitting in a semi-circle shelling peas. Inquiry elicited the fact that they received for this work a penny a quart of shelled peas, and when peas were plentiful they could make three pence a day.

Traveling in a railway car over the continent for a month would be a good school for the American who has not yet learned what to do with his legs and spreads them out on two or more seats in our American car. The coaches here are divided into compartments about five feet wide, with two seats running the width of the car facing each other. Each seat holds five persons. The guard, who crawls along the outside of the coach while it is bowing along at the rate of a mile a minute, quickly spies a vacancy, so at the next station it is filled if there is a passenger requiring it, and then you must sit, knee to knee, with your back to the wall, and have no chance to stretch out and take things easy Yankee fashion.

All along the route we saw evidences of women's rights with 'n vengeance. Women stood manfully side by side with men in the fields and gardens, binding grain, making hay, digging and picking. Finally we saw them yoked into the small carts that haul the produce about the streets. I am sure that at every stage of the journey the women of the expedition were more and more thankful that they were Americans—Mrs. Leavenworth, Mrs. Barry, in Chicago News.

SCHOOL SAVINGS BANKS.

The System in Many Localities.

The following extracts are taken from a paper by J. H. Thiry, recently read before the American Social Science Association:

"A monograph on School Savings Banks in America will be read for the first time before the Universal Congress of Provident Institutions, now in session in Paris, and it is expected that from the transactions of that gross, its influence will be felt throughout the educational world.

"There are sixty schools in seven different States that have the system in operation. About $8,000 have been collected from nearly 9,700 pupils through the aid of 350 devoted teachers.

"The spark kindled five years ago in one school of Long Island City, N. Y., maintains its vitality, and it is expected that during the next school term the school hues will so extend to reach at least fifty more schools in the different States of our Republic."

"The system has received the association of our National Bureau of Education, of our State Superintendents of Public Instruction, Hon. A. S. Draper, and of the Superintendents of the New York State Banking Department, Hon. Willis S. Paine.

"A bill has been introduced into the Legislature of New York providing for the organization of School Savings Banks.

The School Savings Banks, having already passed the period of probation, are now favorably received in many of the American schools, and will prove a most effective weapon in the hands of our young people with which to fight the battle of life on leaving school.

"In introducing School Savings Banks in a few schools of our country, the system has had like any new idea, much to contend with. The persons who so constantly express themselves against the plan, for some reason or other, and who are so keen about the possible danger of averting to the children through these banks are slow, indeed, to see the mischief done to many of our children by squandering all their pocket pennies for cigarettes, candy, chewing-gum and the like. It is yet to be shown that self-restraint, prudence, foresight, as recommended by our teachers, are synonymous with softness,avarice and meanness. Is not the habit of spending wisely a moral outgrowth of saving?

"Every one has read or heard of the Johnstown disaster in Pennsylvania. The very extorting after that disaster the majority of the scholars of Long Island City, on entering their classrooms, manifested to their teachers the good intention of contributing their mite from their pennies to the School Bank towards alleviating the sufferings of their little brother and sister scholars at Johnstown who had lost their parents and home. The idea was received with exclamation by the teachers, the city school superintendent and the Board of Education, and on June 10, at the opening of the school session, out of the 4,050 pupils, 2,272 stepped up to the desks of their teachers with their offerings. The sums thus collected were immediately sent to the relief committee."

George May Powell, president of the Arbitration Council, considers this a movement of vast importance to American labor and capital. He is issuing millions of tract pages on the subject and scattering them among the masses.

FREE ADVERTISING.

Why It Pays Housekeepers to Be Listed with Their Stationery.

"The quantity of paper used by us for message blanks is enormous," said the manager of a city telegraph office to a reporter the other day. "A great deal of it is wasted, as far as we are concerned. A man who wants to be listed with his office has to pay a high price for a list of his office's address, and the cost of mailing the list is high."

"A man who wants to be listed with his office has to pay a high price for a list of his office's address, and the cost of mailing the list is high."

And yet the telegraph companies manage to survive, as do also the hotel-keepers of the country, who are beginning to make as organized a "kick" against furnishing stationery to their customers. The occasional opening of windows does not afford it in a good form. A constant and regular circulation is what is wanted. Where the outside air can be admitted at the bottom through an underground passage and the collar can be connected with a chimney for air-escape it will be no obstacle to the winter storage of fruit. Whenever it becomes necessary to assort apples that have been buried it will be better to market them at once than to keep them longer. The exposure and handling will be likely to cause more rot afterwards than if they had not been disturbed.

N. Y. World.

FEED FOR POULTRY.

Every Thing Considered, Corn Is the Best and Cheapest.

I do not propose to go into a scientific analysis of the various foods to show which contains the most fat, which the most starch, and all that, because I recognize one fact, and that is that something besides the bare constituents of the food which we feed to our fowls must be considered. When we feed corn and water we must remember that corn and water are not absolutely all that the fowls take into their crops; they are supposed to eat some green food, some meat food, some lime, and various other things which they pick up here and there, and which we know nothing about. Analysis tells us the component parts of corn and water, but does not tell us what influences all these other things which occupy the fowl's gizzard at the same time have upon the corn and water; therefore, we experiment carefully, and when

PERSONAL GOSSIP.

Ho. H. B. Clark returned to Frankfort Sunday.

Rev. John O. Rust came down Saturday on a visit to his family.

Mrs. E. Boyd Faulkner returned to her home in Martinsburg, W. Va., Friday.

Mr. Homer Prince leaves this week for California to be absent for several months.

Mr. E. A. Crum has returned from Jacksonville, Fla., after a visit of several weeks.

Mr. B. S. Campbell went to Henderson last week to visit his son, Capt. Ned Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Feland, of Owensboro, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Feland, Jr.

Mrs. E. B. Bassett, Mrs. C. B. Webb and Mrs. Nash left for Louisville yesterday morning.

Walker Wood, who has been studying dentistry in Owensboro, has returned to his home in this city.

Senators J. S. Wortham, Sam E. English and A. H. Stewart and Representatives W. M. Moore and Tibbie Carpenter were the members from other counties who came to inspect the Asylum.

CREAM OF NEWS.

Law-Makers Investigate the Asylum.

The joint committee of the Legislature made its investigation of the Western Asylum a day or two ago. On Friday Senators J. S. Wortham, of Leitchfield, Sam E. English, of Jefferson county and A. H. Stewart, the Republican member from Prestonsburg, who was his party's nominee for U. S. Senator, arrived and spent the day at the Asylum. They remained to dinner and made a thorough inspection of every department of the institution. This portion of the committee returned to Frankfort Friday night.

On Saturday night Representatives W. M. Moore, of Cynthiana, and Tibbie Carpenter, two of the seven members of the House Committee, arrived and after being joined here by Hon. H. B. Clark, who is a member of the Committee, they made a visit to the Asylum Sunday afternoon and were shown through the buildings. They finished their inspection in time to leave on the 5 o'clock train the same evening.

The gentlemen will formulate their official report after they get back to Frankfort, but they will undoubtedly make a very complimentary report of the management of the Asylum. They indubitably expressed themselves as highly pleased with the treatment given patients, the judicious and economic manner in which the finances are handled, the improved condition of life property since the recent repair and the painstaking diligence shown by the various officers in looking after every department of the business.

The Committee will report as to the over-crowded condition of the institution, which was one of the main points upon which information was wanted.

"Ebbie Davis" Not Dead.

"Ebbie Davis," a secret woman of St. Louis, came near ending her life last week by taking morphine. This is an assumed name of a girl who was born in Greenville, Ky. She is a daughter of Judge Charles Eaves, a prominent lawyer and jurist of Muhlenburg county. The girl's mother was an elegant woman and the downfall of her wayward daughter broke her heart. The daughter's name is Miriam and she grew up to be a beautiful blonde and was conceded to be one of the prettiest girls in her section of the state. She soon evinced a disposition to be imprudent in her conduct and it was not long before she was led astray. She afterwards married a man named Reno, but subsequently ran off with Bert Wing, a man who had been raised up from childhood with her, and the couple lived as man and wife in St. Louis. Here she met Joe Gleam, also a young Kentuckian and a former friend of Wing's. The latter subsequently caught Gleam in the girl's room and killed him on the spot, for which crime he has just completed a term in the Missouri penitentiary. The girl for the last five or six years has been alternately in a reformatory convent and following a life of shame in St. Louis. Her family, of course, disowned her long ago, and she has at last sunk so low that in her despair she sought death by her own hand, the victim of her own waywardness and sin. She is still young, being less than 30 years of age. The St. Louis papers say she was saved by hard work and will recover.

May Blossom.

This celebrated drama by David Belasco, Esq., made famous by its long and successful run at the Madison Square Theatre in New York, will be presented in Hopkinsville at the Opera House on Tuesday night, February 11th. The company now playing this drama is composed of legitimate actors and actresses, each one of whom was selected expressly for the part assigned him, thereby giving a smooth and pleasing performance. Our exchanges all over the State where this company has appeared speak in the highest terms of the performance of May Blossom. The prices of admission will be 50, 35 and 25 cents. Seats to be secured at Galtbreath's without extra charge.

HERE AND THERE.

Feather bed for sale; apply to this office.

$1,000 to loan on real estate; apply to this office.

Wanted, a copy of the KENTUCKIAN of June 21, 1889.

Come to this office for paper sacks for putting up hams.

The ground-hog seems to have been correct in his diagnosis of the weather.

Buy Eureka coal of Wheeler & Edmundson, Wheeler, Mills & Co's warehouse.

Moseley & Tribble are paying highest prices for all cattle. Headquarters at Wylie & Burnett's.

Mr. G. V. Thompson has moved from the Polkhouse on South Main to a cottage on South Virginia.

Wm. Quinn, a Louisville murderer, who killed a man named Mathews a year ago, was arrested at Earlenton last week and will be taken back for trial.

Remember on Feb. 21, the Opera "The Little Tycoon" will be given for the benefit of the "Masonic Widows' and Orphans' Home," of Louisville, Ky.

The L. & N. will give reduced rates to New Orleans, Feb. 13, 14, 15, and 16, on account of the Mardi Gras celebrations. Round trip $21.70, Good till March 8.

Mr. W. L. Thompson has sold his house and lot on Virginia street, corner of tenth, to Mr. J. B. Croft, of Empire, Ky. Mr. Thompson will leave to-day for Paducah, Ky.

The Trigg Circuit Court began at Cadiz yesterday with 422 cases on the docket, eighty-eight of them new ones. There are no causes of any special interest to the public to be tried.

The Florence Steam Washer, now being introduced by Messrs. Caper, Perkins and Rose, is something every house-keeper ought to see. Read the testimonials of Hopkinsville ladies who have tried it.

The young ladies of the Methodist Church will give an "Observation Party" at the church next Thursday evening, at 7:30 o'clock. It is something entirely new. Everybody invited to come. Admission 15 cents.

A large number of the dogs in Cadiz were poisoned one night last week, says the Telephone, good and bad ones alike being destroyed. Of course many persons who lost highly-prized pets were very indignant.

George Buckner and Tom Terrell, who were tried last week before Esq. Tinsley for stealing turkeys from Mr. C. S. Sivley, were held over to await the action of the grand jury. They assented to the indictment and the case was referred to the grand jury.

The Harvard Quartette gave the regular entertainment of the Chautauqua series at the Opera House last night. The performance filled the highest expectations and won the generous applause of the large audience.

Fairview Mills, Ross A. Rogers, agent, Wareroom at Handin & Ely's, opposite Phoenix Hotel. Telephone.

The general merchandise firm of Johnson & Co., at Ceresole Springs, who had been in business for less than a year, made an assignment last week to J. R. Blakely. Liabilities $7,700 and assets $3,200. The stock is being disposed of by the assignee.

Win. Hooper, 16-year-old son of Wash Hooper, eloped with Mary Bell Ritter, a colored girl only 15 years of age, one day last week and the couple were married in Clarksville. The youthful groom is a mulatto boy about 18 years of age.

The Sunday School Institute conducted by Dr. Gilbert continued in session Saturday and Sunday. Considerable interest was shown in the proceedings. Sunday afternoon a union class was organized. At night Dr. Gilbert delivered a very interesting address at the Christian Church, and most of the other churches held no evening services. The crowd was very large.

Mr. Monroe Bullard, of Hopkinsville, is critically ill with pneumonia. Mr. Bullard started to Cadiz on the morning of the 29th ultimo, was thrown from his buggy and sustained injuries in connection with exposure resulting in his present dangerous condition. The young gentleman expected to be married in a few days, but soon continued my flight to Omaha, where I got in with a gang of railroad laborers who were going out into the Black Hills. I soon returned to Omaha and went out to a little station called Florence, five miles from the city, where I secured employment with Hungate & Co., ice dealers, who gathered their ice from large reservoirs in the neighborhood. I was sitting in a cabin in a hole, not far from the place where I worked, reading a letter from home, when Detective Stewart and Deputy Sheriff Grob walked in and told me to throw up my hands, which I did.

"The Little Tycoon" will be presented on the eve of Feb. 21st at the Opera House, and the indications point to a most successful and enjoyable affair. This opera is given in aid of the Masonic Widows' and Orphans' Home in Louisville, Ky. And aside from the attractions and pleasures to be anticipated from the assemblage of Sir Knights and ladies fair to be drawn together by the event of the celebration of the Semi-Centennial of the Hopkinsville Masonic Lodge, the benevolent aims of the entertainment are worthy of the highest credit and most liberal support. The Masonic Home is an admirable institution, its good work being thoroughly appreciated in all Masonic circles. The management has taken pains to have everything as attractive as special and appropriate scenery, costume, and accessories can make it, while good singing and acting by a well-located company of amateurs is assured.

Quartry Court is still in session and various cases of minor importance and of no interest to the general public are being disposed of.

The Wheelers and Grangers have organized a strong company and established a tobacco warehouse at Clarksville which is called the Union Tobacco Warehouse. The officers are as follows: President, A. V. Goodpasture; vice-President, W. R. Browder; Secretary, A. E. Goodman; Executive Committee, E. M. Nolen, W. W. Gill, C. D. Bell; other directors, I. M. Fort, J. J. Blakely, Robert Hodges, L. A. Jobe, W. H. White and W. D. Merriweather. C. P. Warkfield, of Clarksville, is Superintendent and General Manager.

BRAME CAUGHT.

LEMON'S MURDERER OVER HAULED IN NEBRASKA.

Located by Decoy Letters and Nabbed Friday Night.

Passed Here Sunday Enroute to Nashville.

The announcement that Wm. T. Brane had been captured created a good deal of excitement here Sunday morning. The news came in the Nashville American at 10 o'clock and in five minutes a crowd had gathered about the Kentuckian bulletin board, where the news had been posted as soon as received. The fact that he would pass through the city at 5 p.m. en route to Nashville, Tenn., was posted and the result was that fully a thousand people were at the depot when the train passed.

Rev. John O. Rust preached at the Methodist church in Cadiz for a week or two.

Rev. J. N. Prostridge, who recently returned from the South, has received a flattering call from the Baptist church at Paducah. As his health is impaired and his physician has advised absolute rest, he will be compelled to decline this and all other calls for the present.

Rev. E. N. Dieken has resigned the pastorate of the Fairview Baptist church, having received a call to a church in one of the Purchase counties.

Rev. John O. Rust preached at the Baptist church Sunday morning to a crowded house. Like all of this gifted young divine's discourses, it was an eloquent and earnest specimen of pulpit oratory, although the sermon was an extemporized one, preached without notes or previous preparation.

Many women find great difficulty in arranging their hair becomingly, because of its harsh and coarse texture. By the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, the hair becomes soft, pliant, and glossy. The Vigor is the most cleanly of all hair preparations.

Fire in the Seventh Ward.

The residence of Mrs. Jennie Wooley, on West Seventh street, caught on fire yesterday evening at 1:30 o'clock and burned down. The newly organized fire company turned out, but the house was a good distance away and the fire was well under way before the engine got to work. The household goods were moved out, but the house could not be saved. It was a one-story cottage, opposite Mr. W. J. Withers' residence.

WHERE HE WAS CAUGHT.

Brane was located by Chief of Detectives Stewart, of the L. & N. railroad force, by means of decoy letters and his whereabouts had been known for some time. He was found employed as an ice-cutter at the village of Florence, a few miles north of Omaha, Neb. He was going under the assumed name of John H. Thompson.

The capture was made Friday night and Brane at once confessed his identity and admitted the killing of Lemon.

THE DETAILS OF THE CRIME.

are fresh in the public mind. Brane shot and killed Jas. H. Lemon, a passenger conductor who put him off an L. & N. train at Baker's Station, Tenn., Sept. 11, 1889. Brane refused to pay his fare and was forcibly ejected and while standing on the ground shot and killed Lemon, who was on the steps. The murderer escaped and impressing a horse arrived in this city a day or two afterwards. He was sheltered by relatives here until detectives got on his trail, when he disappeared and has since been at large. He is a very plucky man and it was not believed that he would permit himself to be taken alive. He had previously killed a man named Beaumont, an officer from Clarksville, who undertook to arrest him at Olivet church, near Garrettsburg, thirteen years ago, without the necessary teachers in the county, but her friends are confident she will make a decided success in her chosen calling.

LEMON ELIXIR.

The Wonderful Effect on the Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys and Blood.

Dr. Mozley's Lemon Elixir has accepted the school at Concord for the spring term. She is one of the youngest teachers in the county, but her friends are confident she will make a decided success in her chosen calling.

LEMON HOT DROPS.

For coughs and colds, take Lemon Hot Drops.

For sore throat and Bronchitis, take Lemon Hot Drops.

For pneumonia and Laryngitis take Lemon Hot Drops.

For Hemorrhage and all throat and lung diseases, take Lemon Hot Drops, 25 cents, at druggist. Prepared only by Dr. H. Mozley, Atlanta, Ga.

GRANDE STORY.

The Nashville American of yesterday gives this as Brane's story: "After the crime I went directly to Hopkinsville, where I remained a week. Being accustomed to wear a beard all over my face, I shaved, and, putting on another suit of clothes, walked to Henderson, traveling at night only. From Henderson I went to Vincennes, Ind., where I took a train to St. Louis, where I stopped a few days, but soon continued my flight to Omaha, where I got in with a gang of railroad laborers who were going out into the Black Hills. I soon returned to Omaha and went out to a little station called Florence, five miles from the city, where I secured employment with Hungate & Co., ice dealers, who gathered their ice from large reservoirs in the neighborhood. I was sitting in a cabin in a hole, not far from the place where I worked, reading a letter from home, when Detective Stewart and Deputy Sheriff Grob walked in and told me to throw up my hands, which I did.

Mr. Monroe Bullard, of Hopkinsville, is critically ill with pneumonia. Mr. Bullard started to Cadiz on the morning of the 29th ultimo, was thrown from his buggy and sustained injuries in connection with exposure resulting in his present dangerous condition. The young gentleman expected to be married in a few days, but soon continued my flight to Omaha, where I got in with a gang of railroad laborers who were going out into the Black Hills. I soon returned to Omaha and went out to a little station called Florence, five miles from the city, where I secured employment with Hungate & Co., ice dealers, who gathered their ice from large reservoirs in the neighborhood. I was sitting in a cabin in a hole, not far from the place where I worked, reading a letter from home, when Detective Stewart and Deputy Sheriff Grob walked in and told me to throw up my hands, which I did.

GRANDE STORY.

The Nashville American of yesterday gives this as Brane's story: "After the crime I went directly to Hopkinsville, where I remained a week. Being accustomed to wear a beard all over my face, I shaved, and, putting on another suit of clothes, walked to Henderson, traveling at night only. From Henderson I went to Vincennes, Ind., where I took a train to St. Louis, where I stopped a few days, but soon continued my flight to Omaha, where I got in with a gang of railroad laborers who were going out into the Black Hills. I soon returned to Omaha and went out to a little station called Florence, five miles from the city, where I secured employment with Hungate & Co., ice dealers, who gathered their ice from large reservoirs in the neighborhood. I was sitting in a cabin in a hole, not far from the place where I worked, reading a letter from home, when Detective Stewart and Deputy Sheriff Grob walked in and told me to throw up my hands, which I did.

GRANDE STORY.

The Nashville American of yesterday gives this as Brane's story: "After the crime I went directly to Hopkinsville, where I remained a week. Being accustomed to wear a beard all over my face, I shaved, and, putting on another suit of clothes, walked to Henderson, traveling at night only. From Henderson I went to Vincennes, Ind., where I took a train to St. Louis, where I stopped a few days, but soon continued my flight to Omaha, where I got in with a gang of railroad laborers who were going out into the Black Hills. I soon returned to Omaha and went out to a little station called Florence, five miles from the city, where I secured employment with Hungate & Co., ice dealers, who gathered their ice from large reservoirs in the neighborhood. I was sitting in a cabin in a hole, not far from the place where I worked, reading a letter from home, when Detective Stewart and Deputy Sheriff Grob walked in and told me to throw up my hands, which I did.

GRANDE STORY.

The Nashville American of yesterday gives this as Brane's story: "After the crime I went directly to Hopkinsville, where I remained a week. Being accustomed to wear a beard all over my face, I shaved, and, putting on another suit of clothes, walked to Henderson, traveling at night only. From Henderson I went to Vincennes, Ind., where I took a train to St. Louis, where I stopped a few days, but soon continued my flight to Omaha, where I got in with a gang of railroad laborers who were going out into the Black Hills. I soon returned to Omaha and went out to a little station called Florence, five miles from the city, where I secured employment with Hungate & Co., ice dealers, who gathered their ice from large reservoirs in the neighborhood. I was sitting in a cabin in a hole, not far from the place where I worked, reading a letter from home, when Detective Stewart and Deputy Sheriff Grob walked in and told me to throw up my hands, which I did.

GRANDE STORY.

The Nashville American of yesterday gives this as Brane's story: "After the crime I went directly to Hopkinsville, where I remained a week. Being accustomed to wear a beard all over my face, I shaved, and, putting on another suit of clothes, walked to Henderson, traveling at night only. From Henderson I went to Vincennes, Ind., where I took a train to St. Louis, where I stopped a few days, but soon continued my flight to Omaha, where I got in with a gang of railroad laborers who were going out into the Black Hills. I soon returned to Omaha and went out to a little station called Florence, five miles from the city, where I secured employment with Hungate & Co., ice dealers, who gathered their ice from large reservoirs in the neighborhood. I was sitting in a cabin in a hole, not far from the place where I worked, reading a letter from home, when Detective Stewart and Deputy Sheriff Grob walked in and told me to throw up my hands, which I did.

GRANDE STORY.

The Nashville American of yesterday gives this as Brane's story: "After the crime I went directly to Hopkinsville, where I remained a week. Being accustomed to wear a beard all over my face, I shaved, and, putting on another suit of clothes, walked to Henderson, traveling at night only. From Henderson I went to Vincennes, Ind., where I took a train to St. Louis, where I stopped a few days, but soon continued my flight to Omaha, where I got in with a gang of railroad laborers who were going out into the Black Hills. I soon returned to Omaha and went out to a little station called Florence, five miles from the city, where I secured employment with Hungate & Co., ice dealers, who gathered their ice from large reservoirs in the neighborhood. I was sitting in a cabin in a hole, not far from the place where I worked, reading a letter from

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the Ivory." They are not, but like all counterfeits, they lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for Ivory Soap and insist upon having it. 'Tis sold everywhere.

Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1891.

PERSONAL AND LITERARY.

—Edward Bellamy, author of "Looking Backward," was educated at Union College, Schenectady, and in Germany. He was a journalist for some years.

—Mrs. Emma D. E. N. Southworth, the story writer, is now seventy-two years of age, and, although still bright and active, requires constant attention, owing to defective eyesight.

—President Carnot, of France, is a literary man of laborious and habit. He has written a good deal of poetry which has never appeared in print. Parisians have tempted him in vain.

—According to Mr. Ruskin's latest criticism there is no genius about the English language. He defines the Welsh language as the language of music, the Scotch of poetry and the Irish of wit.

—Mr. Wilkie Collins is short and delicate-looking, with very small hands and feet and a cheerful face. His luxuriant hair and beard are snowy white, and he habitually wears spectacles. He is an inveterate smoker.

—Tolstoi, the Russian novelist, although of noble birth, affects the life of a peasant and the trade of a shepherd. He dresses like a village artisan; his shirt is soiled with soot, his trousers begrimed with mud, and his whole appearance is that of a working-man.

—The largest private library in Washington is probably George Bancroft's, numbering twelve thousand volumes. He has a copy of "Don Juan" which Lord Byron gave him, with an autograph note pasted in it, and he has poems which Wordsworth gave him. It is an old man and reads no more.

—Martin Farquhar Tupper, the once famous author of "Proverbial Philosophy," is still alive. He lives in a handsome country house in England. He bears a striking resemblance to Leo Tolstoi in his old age. Tupper does not agree with his old schoolfellow, Gladstone, on the question of home rule.

—Alphonse Daudet had determined to remain a bachelor, because he was afraid should he make a wrong step in matrimony he might dull his imagination; but meeting Mlle. Julie Allard, who was a charming writer as well as a lovely woman, all his fears were removed. His marriage and performance of his duties as dean of the college name is over.

—In 1815 an English collector, Sir Thomas Phillips, followed the track of the allied armies in France and bought up all silk books, manuscripts, etc., that he could lay his hands on, believing that one day these collections would be immensely valuable. The French Government is now offering fabulous sums to his heirs for many of the historical manuscripts in this mass of library material.

—Mr. Gladstone's library at Ilwadon is one of the finest private libraries in England. It has more than 20,000 volumes. Mr. Gladstone loans his books out to any one in the neighborhood who wants to read them. Formerly people could keep them no longer as they liked, but a few years ago the rule was made that a book could be kept for one month only. It is the regular free library of the district.

HUMOROUS.

—"All things come to him who waits," appears to be the motto of a majority of waiters.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

—Editor—"How was it you did not acknowledge the receipt of that check we sent you the other day?" Post—"Because you neglected to inclose stamp."—Puck.

—"I married for love, Dick, and I've had about enough of it! What did you marry for?" "Well, yes, I'm an artist; I married Jenny for her figure." "That's only natural." "No, George, 'twas natural! Mostly art!"—Life.

—"I'm on your vacation?" "No why?" "I saw you riding home in a hack the other day, and thought likely you had just returned." "Do you suppose I could have afforded to ride home in a hack if I had been on my vacation?"—Lowell Citizen.

—"Is there any thing that I can do for you?" asked the hotel clerk of a sedately-looking man. "Yes, sir, you can loan me five dollars." "But I'm not going to do it." "No, I don't think you would. I merely wanted to answer your question."—Merchant Traveler.

—"Husband—"And what leads you to think that Mr. Sprigday and our daughter are finally engaged to be married?" "Wife—"Well, he doesn't come so often as he used to, and when he calls they most always have a quarrel and say mean things to each other."—Omaha World.

—John Loss (consulting a omnivorous)—"My watch has been stolen, and I want information that will lead to its recovery." "Clairvoyant—"Crown my palm with a silver dollar." (It is palm with a silver dollar.) "Your watch is in the pocket of a man named Find him; cause his arrest, and the timelock will again be yours."—Jeweler's Weekly.

—In New York.—A number of on-thusiasmous men rush to the cell of a condemned criminal. "My dear sir!" exclaimed the leader of the party, "let us congratulate you!" The criminal was staggered with joyful emotion. "Am I pardoned?" he said. "Oh, no!" "Then why do you come to congratulate me?" "Because it has been demonstrated that our electric apparatus is sure death!"—Arkansas Traveller.

—It was a suit involving a claim of fraud in the sale of a cargo of coffee, and a maledomach man was in the witness box. "You have been summoned, Mr. Olaiapud, to testify as an expert in this case, I think?" said the attorney. "Yes, sir." "You are a judge of coffee?" "I think I ought to be." "What is your occupation?" demanded the judge. "I am the proprietor of a railway eating house." "You can stand aside."—Chicago Times.

SELLING Titles in France.

—A curious fact is that in France a man can will away his title to any one whom he may care to adopt, just as he can a ring or a sum of money. Thus, some years ago, one of the greatest titles in France went a-begging. The old Duke de Micromelton was so poor that he offered to adopt and leave his ducal title to any man who would insure him for the rest of his days (and he was old) the modest income of $2,000—10,000 francs. Old Duke, though ill, had a good income, and he died in the most abject penury. He was a similar transmission of nobility legal in England there are twenty members of the House of Lords who would gladly, for a handsome consideration in cash, adopt the most unsavory commercial "gentleman," and leave him all their honors.

—Parlon Letter.

—She Thought She Was Safe.

—Judge—"Your age?" "I am thirty years." "Judge (incredulously)—You will have some difficulty in proving that." "I am (excitedly)—You'll find it hard to prove the contrary, as the church register which contained the entry of my birth was burned in the year 1845."—Berlin Tabloid.

—To Nervous Men.

—If you will send us your address, we will mail you our illustrated pamphlet explaining all about Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Bell and Appliance, and their charming effects upon the nervous debilitated system, and how they will quickly restore you to vigor, manhood and health. If you are thus afflicted, we will send you a Bell and Appliance on trial.

—Voitau Bell Co., Marshall, Mich.

—CAN'T SLEEP NIGHTS.

—The complaint of the thousands suffering from Asthma, Consumption, Cough, etc., did you ever try Dr. Acker's English Remedy? It is the best preparation known for all Lung Troubles.

—Dr. J. R. Graves, Editor The Standard, Louisville, Ky., writes: "I received a package of Dr. Acker's Medicine, and have used half of it. It is a wonderful medicine, and can be better Liver Regulator and certainly no more of Zellina's mixture.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH.

—Fundis Remabal has named her home for high-caste Indian widows—"Sharad Sadan" or "The Flame of Learning."

—An English clergyman is reported to have remarked to a daughter of Bishop Huatanglagon: "Has your father many Mormons in his diocese? Utah, I think, is a New York."

—That old motto of Wesley's is not out of date yet. Suppose the members of all our churches in city and in country, should adopt it, what grand things might be achieved before our second centennial! "At it, sit it, sit it."

—A clergyman in the London suburbs has resolved to give a garden party on Sabbath afternoons. The people do not come to his church in such numbers as he could wish, and he is going to see whether tea, fruit and lemonade will draw them in the afternoon.

—According to Mr. Ruskin's latest criticism there is no genius about the English language. He defines the Welsh language as the language of music, the Scotch of poetry and the Irish of wit.

—Mr. Wilkie Collins is short and delicate-looking, with very small hands and feet and a cheerful face. His luxuriant hair and beard are snowy white, and he habitually wears spectacles. He is an inveterate smoker.

—Tolstoi, the Russian novelist, although of noble birth, affects the life of a peasant and the trade of a shepherd. He dresses like a village artisan; his shirt is soiled with soot, his trousers begrimed with mud, and his whole appearance is that of a working-man.

—The largest private library in Washington is probably George Bancroft's, numbering twelve thousand volumes. He has a copy of "Don Juan" which Lord Byron gave him, with an autograph note pasted in it, and he has poems which Wordsworth gave him. It is an old man and reads no more.

—Martin Farquhar Tupper, the once famous author of "Proverbial Philosophy," is still alive. He lives in a handsome country house in England. He bears a striking resemblance to Leo Tolstoi in his old age. Tupper does not agree with his old schoolfellow, Gladstone, on the question of home rule.

—According to the Presbyterian

Congregationalist church a man was constituted a pastor only by installation. But the churches to a large extent are served by installed supplies or "acting pastors." The last National Council decided that those who do the work should bear the title of pastor.

—The Turkish Government recently sent out an important order to the governor-general of the different provinces declaring that established

American schools shall not be closed for the lack of official permits, and that complaints against schools must be sent to the capital and not dealt with by the local officials.

—According to the Presbyterian

Church a man was constituted a pastor only by installation. But the churches to a large extent are served by installed supplies or "acting pastors." The last National Council decided that those who do the work should bear the title of pastor.

—The largest private library in Washington is probably George Bancroft's, numbering twelve thousand volumes. He has a copy of "Don Juan" which Lord Byron gave him, with an autograph note pasted in it, and he has poems which Wordsworth gave him. It is an old man and reads no more.

—Martin Farquhar Tupper, the once

famous author of "Proverbial Philosophy," is still alive. He lives in a handsome country house in England. He bears a striking resemblance to Leo Tolstoi in his old age. Tupper does not agree with his old schoolfellow, Gladstone, on the question of home rule.

—According to the Presbyterian

Church a man was constituted a pastor only by installation. But the churches to a large extent are served by installed supplies or "acting pastors." The last National Council decided that those who do the work should bear the title of pastor.

—The largest private library in Washington is probably George Bancroft's, numbering twelve thousand volumes. He has a copy of "Don Juan" which Lord Byron gave him, with an autograph note pasted in it, and he has poems which Wordsworth gave him. It is an old man and reads no more.

—Martin Farquhar Tupper, the once

famous author of "Proverbial Philosophy," is still alive. He lives in a handsome country house in England. He bears a striking resemblance to Leo Tolstoi in his old age. Tupper does not agree with his old schoolfellow, Gladstone, on the question of home rule.

—According to the Presbyterian

Church a man was constituted a pastor only by installation. But the churches to a large extent are served by installed supplies or "acting pastors." The last National Council decided that those who do the work should bear the title of pastor.

—The largest private library in Washington is probably George Bancroft's, numbering twelve thousand volumes. He has a copy of "Don Juan" which Lord Byron gave him, with an autograph note pasted in it, and he has poems which Wordsworth gave him. It is an old man and reads no more.

—Martin Farquhar Tupper, the once

famous author of "Proverbial Philosophy," is still alive. He lives in a handsome country house in England. He bears a striking resemblance to Leo Tolstoi in his old age. Tupper does not agree with his old schoolfellow, Gladstone, on the question of home rule.

—According to the Presbyterian

Church a man was constituted a pastor only by installation. But the churches to a large extent are served by installed supplies or "acting pastors." The last National Council decided that those who do the work should bear the title of pastor.

—The largest private library in Washington is probably George Bancroft's, numbering twelve thousand volumes. He has a copy of "Don Juan" which Lord Byron gave him, with an autograph note pasted in it, and he has poems which Wordsworth gave him. It is an old man and reads no more.

—Martin Farquhar Tupper, the once

famous author of "Proverbial Philosophy," is still alive. He lives in a handsome country house in England. He bears a striking resemblance to Leo Tolstoi in his old age. Tupper does not agree with his old schoolfellow, Gladstone, on the question of home rule.

—According to the Presbyterian

Church a man was constituted a pastor only by installation. But the churches to a large extent are served by installed supplies or "acting pastors." The last National Council decided that those who do the work should bear the title of pastor.

—The largest private library in Washington is probably George Bancroft's, numbering twelve thousand volumes. He has a copy of "Don Juan" which Lord Byron gave him, with an autograph note pasted in it, and he has poems which Wordsworth gave him. It is an old man and reads no more.

—Martin Farquhar Tupper, the once

famous author of "Proverbial Philosophy," is still alive. He lives in a handsome country house in England. He bears a striking resemblance to Leo Tolstoi in his old age. Tupper does not agree with his old schoolfellow, Gladstone, on the question of home rule.

—According to the Presbyterian

Church a man was constituted a pastor only by installation. But the churches to a large extent are served by installed supplies or "acting pastors." The last National Council decided that those who do the work should bear the title of pastor.

—The largest private library in Washington is probably George Bancroft's, numbering twelve thousand volumes. He has a copy of "Don Juan" which Lord Byron gave him, with an autograph note pasted in it, and he has poems which Wordsworth gave him. It is an old man and reads no more.

—Martin Farquhar Tupper, the once

famous author of "Proverbial Philosophy," is still alive. He lives in a handsome country house in England. He bears a striking resemblance to Leo Tolstoi in his old age. Tupper does not agree with his old schoolfellow, Gladstone, on the question of home rule.

—According to the Presbyterian

Church a man was constituted a pastor only by installation. But the churches to a large extent are served by installed supplies or "acting pastors." The last National Council decided that those who do the work should bear the title of pastor.

—The largest private library in Washington is probably George Bancroft's, numbering twelve thousand volumes. He has a copy of "Don Juan" which Lord Byron gave him, with an autograph note pasted in it, and he has poems which Wordsworth gave him. It is an old man and reads no more.

—Martin Farquhar Tupper, the once

famous author of "Proverbial Philosophy," is still alive. He lives in a handsome country house in England. He bears a striking resemblance to Leo Tolstoi in his old age. Tupper does not agree with his old schoolfellow, Gladstone, on the question of home rule.

—According to the Presbyterian

Church a man was constituted a pastor only by installation. But the churches to a large extent are served by installed supplies or "acting pastors." The last National Council decided that those who do the work should bear the title of pastor.

—The largest private library in Washington is probably George Bancroft's, numbering twelve thousand volumes. He has a copy of "Don Juan" which Lord Byron gave him, with an autograph note pasted in it, and he has poems which Wordsworth gave him. It is an old man and reads no more.

—Martin Farquhar Tupper, the once

famous author of "Proverbial Philosophy," is still alive. He lives in a handsome country house in England. He bears a striking resemblance to Leo Tolstoi in his old age. Tupper does not agree with his old schoolfellow, Gladstone, on the question of home rule.

—According to the Presbyterian

Church a man was constituted a pastor only by installation. But the churches to a large extent are served by installed supplies or "acting pastors." The last National Council decided that those who do the work should bear the title of pastor.

—The largest private library in Washington is probably George Bancroft's, numbering twelve thousand volumes. He has a copy of "Don Juan" which Lord Byron gave him, with an autograph note pasted in it, and he has poems which Wordsworth gave him. It is an old man and reads no more.

—Martin Farquhar Tupper, the once

famous author of "Proverbial Philosophy," is still alive. He lives in a handsome country house in England. He bears a striking resemblance to Leo Tolstoi in his old age. Tupper does not agree with his old schoolfellow, Gladstone, on the question of home rule.

—According to the Presbyterian

Church a man was constituted a pastor only by installation. But the churches to a large extent are served by installed supplies or "acting pastors." The last National Council decided that those who do the work should bear the title of pastor.

—The largest private library in Washington is probably George Bancroft's, numbering twelve thousand volumes. He has a copy of "Don Juan" which Lord Byron gave him, with an autograph note pasted in it, and he has poems which Wordsworth gave him. It is an old man and reads no more.

—Martin Farquhar Tupper, the